WIFEY DRINKS, SAYS ANDERSON

Carpenter Refutes Charges in Divorce Complaint and Makes Some Himself.

Andrew G. Anderson, in an answer filed Friday in the district court to the divorce suit entered by his wife, Emily O. Anderson, denies the allegations made by the wife that he is an habitual drunkard and that she has been subjected to cruel treatment.

Anderson intimates that the places occupied by the parties to the suit should be reversed, saying that his wife has been frequently intoxicated and that she has attacked him and otherwise cruelly used him.

He alleges that there is no truth in the statement made by his wife that he struck her with his fists and a chair on July 31. He says Mrs. Anderson came home under the influence of liquor on that occasion and threw a glass shade at him, and that he procured a chair to protect himself. The husband alleges that Mrs. Anderson drank a great deal for several years, and that she has remained away from home for days at a time. He says that on one occasion, when there was trouble in the house, his wife chased him into the cellar and he had to nail the door shut on the inside for his own protection. He also says he has been compelled to sleep in the cellar.

Mrs. Anderson, in her complaint, sets forth that Anderson owns certain property, and asks for alimony and for a decree awarding her this property. Anderson's reply says he is unable to work at his trade of carpenter, having Bright's disease. He asks that he be awarded the divorce and that the property be divided between the parties to the suit.

NURSES INSTALL NEW OFFICIALS

Auto Ride to Fort Douglas Yesterday—Strenuous Program for Today.

The simple exercises of installing the officers elected Thursday were conducted at the last official meeting of army nurses at the Colonial hotel yesterday morning. Little or no ceremony marked the exercises, the obligation oath being the only feature. At the end of the session the association sang in mass "God Be With You Until We Meet Again."

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, as the guests of Major May of Fort Douglas, the aged nurses were taken about the city and eventually to Fort Douglas in automobiles. At the fort a special band concert was held in their honor, and a full dress parade, with the lowering of the flag, and attendant military ceremony.

Today holds a strenuous program for the nurses. This morning they will go to Farmington as the guests of Miss Chase, one of the nurses, and, after being served with lunch, will return to this city in time for the special organ recital at the tabernacle at noon. In the afternoon Mrs. Lacey, the newly-elected national president, will entertain the entire association at her home, 22 Delmar avenue.

The nurses plan to depart from the city early Sunday morning, although it is possible that they may stay over Sunday.

HE HYPNOTIZED THE CAT.

(New York World.)

After the visit of a hypnotist to Akron, O., Sheriff Stein, to ascertain whether he also was a hypnotist, tried it on the office cat, following as nearly as possible the exhibitor's formula by addressing Tabby thus:

"Cat, be still and listen. You are supported by the county. You are supposed to catch rodents for the county's benefit. Do you do it? You do not. Henceforth catch, trap, earn your keep."

The cat gave a stretchy gesture and licked her chops. Then she stalked "from the room."

"She has gone forth to catch mice," said the officer complacently, and later on he followed to see the result of his hypnotic efforts.

But she had done more. Four goldfish and one tadpole in the aquarium and two canary birds were dead at her claws.

"Awake!" chier the sheriff. Then he remembered that in his instructions he had forgotten to tell her just what she should catch.

OUR LANGUAGES.

(London Outlook.)

What a lot of languages we talk, even if we talk only English! It was assailed by a man across the luncheon table with a language about a Cup-tie inal, and confessed that it was quite unintelligible. Then another man talked about golf, which is another language. And then the woman's language elbows the columns. "The Countess wore a sea green cloth skirt with a bolero of the same color and a white marabou stole and a black taffeta bow garnished her huge hat of burnt Tagel straw." It is a fine example of women's slang. But to the man it means nothing—but expense.

Constipation and indigestion are twin evils. They kill people inch by inch, sap life away every day. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will remove the cause and drives the disease away. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. F. J. Hill Drug Co. Ask your druggist.
